Description

The AK402BL case is a product of the Akyga Micro Tower cases, dedicated to users who want to build a compact computer. Small forms of computers are becoming more and more popular because they occupy little space and do not create the impression of "cluttering" - whether in office or at home. The elegant, black design makes it no longer necessary to hide the computer between the shelves, making it possible to match the casing to the room's design.
A great asset is the ability to expand and adapt components to changing needs and requirements. The casing allows the use of one of three different types of motherboards: Micro ATX, Mini ITX and Flex ATX. The 5.25" external bay at the top will allow the installation of a CD/DVD drive, and the 3.5" external bay can be used as a space for memory card reader. Inside the case there are one 2.5” and one 3.5" bay for drives installation. The cable management system and customized cutouts inside the case make it easy to install components, and the spacious interior allows for up to 320 mm long graphics cards. To provide the best possible cooling, there are places for two fans: side of 120 mm diameter and a rear fan of 80 mm diameter. The maximum height of CPU cooling system is 140 mm. On the front panel there are two USB 2.0 ports as well as microphone and headphone inputs, which are easy accessible to connect any peripheral devices.
To protect the environment, all Akyga cases are packed in Ecobox.
